

is pleased to sponsor:

Professor Mehrsa Baradaran

Author of

Save
the Dates!

(A Plea for Postal Banking)

"How the Other Half Banks" is a history of banking for the masses in the United States, the story of how it has failed in the last thirty years - to be replaced by predatory payday lenders and their ilk - and the case for Postal Banking as the way to once again provide banking services at reasonable rates for the tens of millions of unbanked and underbanked.

Professor Baradaran will be speaking at two bookstore events:

San Francisco

Fri., February 12th - 7 PM

The Green Arcade
1680 Market St.

Oakland

Sat., February 13th - 6 PM

Laurel Books
Oscar Grant/Frank
Ogawa Plaza
1423 Broadway

www.facebook.com/BayAreaStrikeDebt

strike-debt-bay-area.tumblr.com/

copyright 2012 sarah carroll's blogspire.net

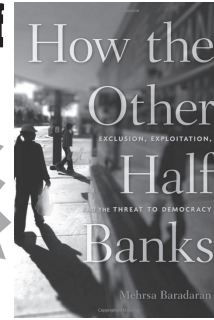

is pleased to sponsor:

Professor Mehrsa Baradaran

Author of

Save
the Dates!

(A Plea for Postal Banking)

"How the Other Half Banks" is a history of banking for the masses in the United States, the story of how it has failed in the last thirty years - to be replaced by predatory payday lenders and their ilk - and the case for Postal Banking as the way to once again provide banking services at reasonable rates for the tens of millions of unbanked and underbanked.

Professor Baradaran will be speaking at two bookstore events:

San Francisco

Fri., February 12th - 7 PM

The Green Arcade
1680 Market St.

Oakland

Sat., February 13th - 6 PM

Laurel Books
Oscar Grant/Frank
Ogawa Plaza
1423 Broadway

www.facebook.com/BayAreaStrikeDebt

strike-debt-bay-area.tumblr.com/

copyright 2012 sarah carroll's blogspire.net

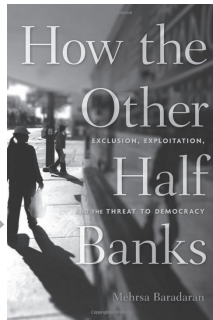

is pleased to sponsor:

Professor Mehrsa Baradaran

Author of

Save
the Dates!

(A Plea for Postal Banking)

"How the Other Half Banks" is a history of banking for the masses in the United States, the story of how it has failed in the last thirty years - to be replaced by predatory payday lenders and their ilk - and the case for Postal Banking as the way to once again provide banking services at reasonable rates for the tens of millions of unbanked and underbanked.

Professor Baradaran will be speaking at two bookstore events:

San Francisco

Fri., February 12th - 7 PM

The Green Arcade
1680 Market St.

Oakland

Sat., February 13th - 6 PM

Laurel Books
Oscar Grant/Frank
Ogawa Plaza
1423 Broadway

www.facebook.com/BayAreaStrikeDebt

strike-debt-bay-area.tumblr.com/

copyright 2012 sarah carroll's blogspire.net

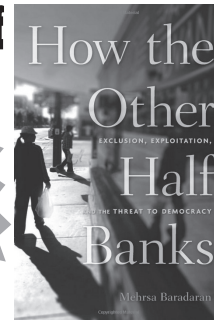

is pleased to sponsor:

Professor Mehrsa Baradaran

Author of

Save
the Dates!

(A Plea for Postal Banking)

"How the Other Half Banks" is a history of banking for the masses in the United States, the story of how it has failed in the last thirty years - to be replaced by predatory payday lenders and their ilk - and the case for Postal Banking as the way to once again provide banking services at reasonable rates for the tens of millions of unbanked and underbanked.

Professor Baradaran will be speaking at two bookstore events:

San Francisco

Fri., February 12th - 7 PM

The Green Arcade
1680 Market St.

Oakland

Sat., February 13th - 6 PM

Laurel Books
Oscar Grant/Frank
Ogawa Plaza
1423 Broadway

www.facebook.com/BayAreaStrikeDebt

strike-debt-bay-area.tumblr.com/

copyright 2012 sarah carroll's blogspire.net